Comrade Le Quoc Minh, Member of the Party Central Committee, Editor-in-Chief of Nhan Dan Newspaper, Deputy Head of the Central Propaganda Department, Chairman of the Vietnam Journalists Association, Head of the Award Organizing Committee spoke at the award ceremony.

“Among the nearly 130 entries sent to us, there are many individuals, organizations and units that quietly started their journey several decades ago. They work, test and adjust, and worry about ways to improve their programs/projects to become more systematic and professional, to create even stronger impacts, thereby bringing many changes to an area, or simply helping individual lives. Their concern, steadfast belief and enthusiasm are endless inspiration for us - the organizers of the award", he emphasized.

According to the Organizing Committee, to ensure the transparency of the award, all participating projects must go through a strict application process, including requirements to provide detailed content and documents. Right from the preliminary round, reporters directly met and made many field trips to learn about the project, telling the community the stories, methods and models of each project, as well as the values that the community benefits from these projects.

From the 35 project profiles that reached the final round, the jury selected the best projects to award prizes. The Human Act Prize's award categories are evaluated based on criteria that ensure impact, sustainability, commitment, creativity and community spread.
